

2026 NATIONAL INTEGRATED SPECIAL REPORT –
DIGITAL AND NEWSPAPER

Reducing Microplastic Pollution

INTEGRATED CONTENT FEATURES: Turnkey solutions in which participating advertisers can be mentioned or quoted in at least one story. The PDF overviews are intended to be a thematic starting point. Topics highlighted will be revisited and updated during the production stage to align with the current situation

Microplastics are now found throughout Canada's ecosystems, from waterways and food sources to the air we breathe, prompting growing concern about long-term environmental and health impacts. As governments, researchers and communities push for solutions, Canadians are seeking clearer information on where microplastics come from and how they can reduce their exposure. This special feature will explore the emerging science, the sources of microplastic pollution and the innovations helping build a cleaner, healthier future. Strategically timed for International Plastic Free Day.

Topic Highlights

Where microplastics come from

Everyday sources including textiles, packaging and consumer products.

Impacts on health and environment

What current research shows about risks to people, wildlife and ecosystems.

Reducing personal exposure

Simple changes Canadians can make to limit contact with microplastics.

Community and industry action

How cities, manufacturers and waste systems are addressing pollution.

Innovations for a cleaner future

New materials, filtration technologies and policy approaches shaping long-term solutions.
